CURRENT ROLE OF WOMEN IN TONGAN SOCIETY

The certainty regarding the role of women in Tongan society may cause surprise, for all too evidently the role and rank of women in Tonga is unique in the world. However, it is under threat from modern Tongan women.
Role of women in the family

• Traditionally the place of women is “in the house” where they perform their roles.
• The first priority is to remain dignified in addition to preparation of food, nourishing and teaching Tongan values and other feminine values to the children, making tapa, weaving mats, making Tongan oil, and making dancing costume.
Values to uphold women’s Roles

• Four ‘golden values’ that form the pillars of Tongan society:
  - respect (faka’apa’apa),
  - humility (lototo),
  - maintaining good relationship (tauhi va) and
  - loyalty (mamahi’i me’a).

• Most of these values are learned by observation and are taught in depth when a man actually performs his duty towards his paternal aunty and his sisters.
FAHU ‘Dignified Rank’ Structure
IN TONGAN FAMILY

- Fahu is the dignified rank and is always the paternal aunty.
- It is sometimes the father’s sister.
- The ‘mother’ is indirectly connected for she has her own paternal aunty, Fahu.
The Role of Fahu in Social Events

• This rank is evident during social functions such as weddings, birthdays and funerals. It is also emerges on other social occasions as in entertainment.
Role of the Mother - Birthday

• The birthday child must have a sitting mat topped with tapa, and the birthday attire consists of tapa and fine mat.

• It is the role of the mother to prepare the mats and to announce and present to the superior person of the family, the paternal aunty of her husband.
Role of the Mother - Wedding

- Preparing wedding attire
Role of the Mother - Wedding

• Preparing mats and tapa as a presentation to the paternal aunty of the groom.
Role of Women - Funeral

- Sits on the chair and on the floor also tells one’s position in relation to the deceased.
• The size of the mat wrapped around the waist tells the rank of the deceased.
• It is either a paternal aunty or the father.

The Core in the Role of Mothers

• Because mothers are loyal to their families, their roles as mothers are done with respect, humility and the purpose of maintaining good relationship within the family.

• In light of reciprocity this mother will be elevated to the dignified rank when the children of her brothers are having the same ceremony.
The Changes in the Roles of Women

• Nowadays it seems that some women are taking another view.

• With the influence of the western life style there is a birthday cake and the top tier is also part of the presentation to the paternal aunty.

• Another change with this custom is that in some families the father’s sister or the sister’s daughter is taking the place of the dignified rank instead.
The Changes in the Roles of Women

• There are currently frequent conflicts and disagreements about this rank, but as far as I know the clashes do not uphold the values of our Tongan society, but rather the attributes of power, worldly obsessions and selfishness.

• Looking back I notice that in some families the trend to uphold the extended family runs divergently to our Tongan values because of the growing economic orientation emerging in Tongan society.
The Changes in the Role of Women in Wedding

• Likewise the changes in the formal procedure and preparation of a Tongan wedding.

• It is somewhat contradictory and with new attitudes.

• The dignified rank has been taken over either by the father’s sister or the sister’s daughter.

• The mother decides who will occupy the dignified rank though the custom and public opinion disagree.

• Often it is the process used that has changed.

• The traditional procedures of a wedding involve the two families, excluding the bride and the groom.
The Changes in the Role of Women in Wedding

- The two families, after agreeing to the couple marrying, will discuss how the ceremony goes, set the dates and start the preparation.

- The two mothers also have roles to play particularly with the traditional vows over the ‘kava’ ceremony and the presentation from both sides.

- The role of the groom’s mother has changed significantly as it is shifting from custom to food preparation only.

ON JUSTICE

• Social Justice
  There is concern over the poor understanding and knowledge among Catholic leaders and leaders of laity on the Social Teaching of the Church and the basis of the services of the Church to the poor.

• Family Break-downs
  There are more evils causing the increase break-downs of families. There seems to be a breakdown of communication and mechanisms for development of understandings.

• Disaster Relief Services
  There are increases in both the incidences and severity of disasters, both natural and man-made.
• Abuse of Children and Women
  The Church is very much concerned with an increase in cases of abuse of children and women, including beatings.

• Aged & Handicapped
  Social and economic reasons have changed attitudes and the very poor attention to the care of the aged and handicapped.

• HIV/AIDS
  The arrival of HIV/AIDS and STD in Tonga cause great alarm. The victims are calling the church to provide a better response.

• Conflicts and Grievances
  The conflicts and grievances in families and communities calls for improved methods of dealings with peace and reconciliation
- Youth unemployment
  - Each year about 2000 young men and women leave school to look for work. Unfortunately, only about 500 or 20% can find employment in the formal sector.
  - Opportunities offered through migration in previous years may be closing as some host countries have reviewed their policies on immigration. Others have to compete for a limited number of jobs available in the domestic economy.

- Corruption
  - There are increases in corruption in families, churches, government and the community, causing great poverty.

- Family poverty
  - The increase in family poverty due to poor income, is causing various problems to the family in the education of children, housings, etc.
• Bad effects of alcohol and drugs
  there is increasing alarm at the bad effects of alcohol and drugs. Drug smugglings into Tonga and trafficking among youths is increasing.

• Schools
  the shortage of teachers in Tonga is still a priority problem and the service of the RSM is needed.

• Prison
  RSM visiting the prison and especially working for the spouses of the prisoners is greatly appreciated

POLITICAL HISTORY

System of Government is a ‘Constitutional Monarchy with three ruling bodies:

Privy Council, Parliament & Judiciary
The system of government in Tonga is hierarchical as well as its language, society and family.

Women lease land.

No women nobles.

Women Minister
Role of the Royals

• When Queen Salote was still alive she had a network of women in villages throughout the Kingdom.

• They reported on the happenings in the communities and she responded with compassion and helped those who were in need.

• She knew every family in the country.
The Court of the Queen

• A poet and songwriter - her court was full of musicians and performers.

• She was so loved that people presented their best from weaving, crafting and catches from the reef.

• She was aware of the untold suffering in the world as she lived through two World Wars and the Great Depression of the 1930s.
• She strove for the rest of her life to shield her people from international influences.

• Still reigning – she was taking care of the cultural institutions while her son the Crown Prince, The Late Taufa’ahau Tupou IV, was responsible for the running of the country.

• THE CHANGE

• The Crown Prince then Prime Minister, the first and only degree holder at the time, was occupying himself with the demands of the time.
• Nanisi Helu, who is one of the Queen’s small circle of night companions was saying that the Queen suggested for him to start a business and build something for the security of his children. His reply was “Your Majesty, my business is the welfare, security and happiness of our people. Their well-being will be the security of our family”.

• There was no other objective and he lived up to that ‘BUSINESS’ for the rest of his life.
CURRENT POLITICAL SITUATION

• Since 1985 the democratic movement was introduced and people called for change in the system of government.

• The Late King agreed with TIME as the essence of change.

• However some of the people were impatient, THEN....

CHALLENGES IN THE FUTURE ROLE OF WOMEN IN TONGA

• CONFLICT IN THE ‘FAHU’ SYSTEM.
• ECONOMICALLY MORE ACTIVE THAN MEN.
• PARENTAL ROLES NEGLECTED THUS SIGNIFICANT CHANGE ON YOUTH: MORAL, ATTITUDE, TONGAN CUSTOMS, TEEN PREGNANCIES,
• DRINKING & SMOKING, NIGHT CLUBBING, INCREASE DIVORCE,
• LACK OF INTEREST IN VOCATION FOR RELIGIOUS LIFE.
