

Foundations in Spirituality for Everyday Living with Sandra Schneiders, IHM, STD

Tuesdays in June 2021

(June 1, 8, 15, 22, 29)

8–9:30 p.m. EDT

A Five-Week Webinar Series

Sponsored by the Margaret Brennan Institute

What is spirituality and how is it connected to our daily life, God, beauty, work, relationships, religion, science, social justice and the current realities we face locally and globally? How can we nurture our spirituality and share with others? Renowned theologian Dr. Sandra Schneiders, IHM, STD, will bring her scholarship, experience and pastoral heart to break open these questions in a way that is accessible, grounding and inspiring. Bring your own questions about spirituality and they will become part of the conversation throughout the series.

Sandra Schneiders, IHM, STD, is professor emerita of New Testament and Christian Spirituality at Santa Clara University. As the author of nearly 100 academic articles, more than a dozen books and more than 70 chapters in edited monographs, she is a senior scholar in fields ranging from Johannine literature to feminist biblical interpretation and the theory of spirituality as academic discipline. She continues to offer presentations across the globe and is at work on another book. She is also a spiritual director and retreat leader.

The suggested donation for the entire five-week series is $50. Registrants will also receive links to the recordings. Scholarships are available for those who cannot afford this amount. Please contact us directly using the information below.

Margaret Brennan
INSTITUTE

The IHM Sisters established the Margaret Brennan Institute in 2016 to explore the areas of spirituality, Church and culture through conferences, workshops, research and collaborative efforts with other faith traditions and religious communities. At the heart of the Institute is the rich heritage of the IHM Sisters and the legacy of Sister Margaret Brennan, IHM.
