The Global Heartbeat

“Indeed, the universe is the primary sacred reality.

We become sacred by our participation in this more sublime dimension of the world about us.”

Thomas Berry, "The Wild and the Sacred," in The Great Work, 49

4. Whakataukī - Maori Proverb

Kia whakarongo ake au

Ki te tangi a te manu nei

a te Matui

Tui-i-i, tui-i-i, tuituia -

Tuia i runga Tuia i raro

Tuia i waho Tuia i roto

Tuia i te here tangata

Ka rongō te po Ka rongō te ao.

Tuia i te muka tangata

I takea mai i Hawaiki-Nui

I Hawaiki-Roa, i Hawaiki-Pāmamao

Oti rā me ērā atu ano Hawaiki

Te hono a wairua
Whakaputa ki Te Whaiao
Ki Te Ao Mārama. Tihei mauri ora!

My attention is drawn to the cry of the bird nearby, to the bush wren (extinct 1971) calling "Bind, Join, be United as one. May it be woven above, enmeshed below, entwined outside and within our very beings, interlaced by threads of human love. May there be peace at night and peace by day.

5. Intertwined with the cords of humankind, originating from the great homeland, from the far homeland, from the remote homeland, and from all other ancestral lands merging with the spirits there, then coming out into the Light, out into the cosmos, the World of Consciousness. The living spirit is within us, constantly beating! Behold, it is life!"

The extinct Bush Wren has a story for us...

"I am a loss to the earth.

No longer can you hear my song or appreciate my gift to you and this land.

Can the spirit of my song touch your hearts with a deepening consciousness of all that is interconnected ... our hearts beat as one. Look after the heartbeat of Mother Earth!"

Affectionally yours
Bush Wren

6. "Ko te whenua te toto o te tangata,
Land is the life-blood of the people"

Papatūānuku Mother Earth

is the earth that we live upon. Not only is she the land we walk upon, she is also the life within the land. Everything is linked to the land... the plants, the trees, the birds, the lizards, the seals and the people.

Papatūānuku nurtures them all... feeds them all... houses them all... and at the end of their life forms the final resting place for all creatures great and small.

Warren Pohatu ~ Maori Artist and Writer

Mā te Atawhai ka puta mai te tūmanako me te oranga mō te katoa

Mercy invites us to act in ways which generate hope and life for all. Pope Francis

7. Today Mercy is committed to preserving the integrity of creation, Papatūānuku ~ Mother Earth, seeing human beings as connected and dependent on all living species.

Catherine McAuley's spirituality enabled her to see the Divine presence in the whole of life.

10. The Universe unfolds in God

The Universe unfolds in God who fills it completely. Hence there is a mystical meaning to be found in a leaf, in a mountain trail, in a dewdrop, in a poor person’s face.

Pope Francis Laudato Si’

11. This is why we are here

To listen with the ear of the heart,
to be an inclusive human presence,
open to the Divine, awake to the mystery of all life.

We are here to respond to what earth is asking of us,
to honour the beauty of difference,
to celebrate the interconnected bond holding us together
and honouring the soul of each member.

This is why we are here.

Father Jim Conlon

12. We enter a new paradigm of solidarity which is born of compassion for the scarred and downtrodden of Earth. Living manaakitanga today calls for a wider embrace of mercy gracious hospitality to all.

Ngā Whaea Atawhai o Aotearoa Sisters of Mercy New Zealand Leadership Report to the Congregation, Chapter 2019

13. Mercy calls us today to be in Hope, a Global Compassionate presence, the heartbeat of God in the reality of this time, this place, this earth, this universe.

15. "Our heartbeat must be in tune with the heartbeat of God."

"We are called to be the heartbeat of contemplative love within the heartache of our realities." LCWR

What is your mercy heart beating for?

16. Atawhai Mercy does not gently rock us in a deceptive tranquillity and security; it causes us to get moving.

It wants us to open our hands and our hearts.

*Cardinal Walter Kasper,
The Way of Mercy pg 38*

Tama tu, tama ora, tama noho, tama mate

Stand and live or sit and die.

Whakatauki Maori Proverb

17. The Future belongs to those who give the next generation reason to hope.
